

IF YOUR STORE IS NOT WORTH ADVERTISING, advertise it for sale. It is a writer with a gift for phrasing. His phrases ring loudly, but his logic halts. To sell a store that is not worth advertising would be to defraud the buyer—so that the advice is ethically unsound.—Savannah Press. In any event the business being to do is advertise.

THE TRIBUNE IS THE PIONEER and at the same time, the undisputed premier newspaper in this vast territory that cannot be covered by a diameter a thousand miles long, pivoted upon the steeply rising mountain of the city. When you want results use The Tribune—its the universal advice of those who spend their money for results.

MAKE MAD RUSH TO SECURE DIVORCES

Unhappy Wedded Couples Seek Legal Separations Before May 10.

AFTER THAT DIVORCEES CANNOT WED UNDER YEAR

Judge Morse Hands Out Decrees to Ten Couples During One Day.

DIVORCES OF A DAY

Emma Hobusch from Fritz Hobusch. Esther Burns Brooklebank from George Brooklebank. Clara Knadle from William M. Knadle. Lillie Chippis from Jacob M. Chippis. Bernard B. Warren from John A. Warren. Vera O. Powell from John B. Powell. Jacob Hunter from Martha Bolton Hunter. Agnes Crouch from J. A. Crouch. Jesse Y. Rockefeller from Marian Rockefeller. Lillian Bowles from Harry Bowles.

There is no let-up in the mad rush of unhappy wives and unlucky husbands in the divorce court for a return to legal blissfulness before the new law requiring divorcees to wait a year before marrying becomes effective May 10. At the forenoon session, Friday, Judge Morse of the Third district court granted two divorces, and at the regular forenoon matinee eight more couples were liberated from galling matrimonial bonds. Two of the decrees went to husbands and the remaining eight to wives.

There was the echo of a tragedy that had opened a whole new chapter in the case of Clara Knadle against William M. Knadle. Mrs. Knadle charged Knadle with threatening to kill her and the five children June 29, 1908, and testified that he had declared that he would make as big a tragedy of their family as his brother had made out of his family. His brother had killed his wife and then himself, it developed, but the brother's name and the date of this tragedy did not appear in the hearing.

Bernie B. Warren got quick action in the divorce court from John A. Warren, on the grounds of non-support and subsequent desertion. Mrs. Warren filed her complaint about noon, and two hours and a half later was a single woman, and in possession of her share of the property. There are no children, and Mrs. Warren asked for no alimony. The marriage took place at Pueblo, Colo., July 16, 1901, where Warren is now supposed to be.

When drink interfered with his business, Frank Hobusch gave up his business, according to the testimony of Mrs. Emma Hobusch. Hobusch has been a habitual drunkard for five years, Mrs. Hobusch said, drinking so heavily that he was incapacitated part of the time for his business. There are no children, and Mrs. Warren asked for no alimony. The marriage took place at Pueblo, Colo., July 16, 1901, where Warren is now supposed to be.

Following this, she said, Brooklebank sold part of their property in Bingham Canyon and used the proceeds presumably for drink. This was corroborated by Mrs. Brooklebank, who had been in the custody of the children, John Edward, George and James, but to alimony. The couple was married in Hurley, Wis., October 28, 1897. Mrs. Brooklebank owns a house and lot at Bingham Canyon and conducts a lodging house there.

Deserted Child Wife. Lillie Chippis, a slip of a girl of only eighteen years, was a bride of less than a month, according to the testimony, when she became the wife of Jacob M. Chippis on January 23, 1908, and on February 10 of the same year, the girl's mother charged that a man could not earn a living here and maybe he could elsewhere, Chippis packed up and set out for the elsewhere, promising to let her hear from him and to send her some money when he found a job. From Mrs. Chippis she heard a letter, and this was the last she heard from him. Mrs. Chippis said, Chippis is now supposed to be in Cardston, Alberta, Canada.

Mrs. Anna Sengendo, the girl's mother, charging that a man could not earn a living here and maybe he could elsewhere, Chippis packed up and set out for the elsewhere, promising to let her hear from him and to send her some money when he found a job. From Mrs. Chippis she heard a letter, and this was the last she heard from him. Mrs. Chippis said, Chippis is now supposed to be in Cardston, Alberta, Canada.

SENATOR STEWART OF NEVADA DIES

Passing of One of the Strongest and Most Picturesque Characters of the West.

SERVED HIS STATE MORE THAN QUARTER OF CENTURY

At Ripe Old Age Answers Final Summons in Hospital at Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Former United States Senator William A. Stewart of Nevada died at the Georgetown hospital here today, following an operation. The body will be taken to Nevada Sunday.

Mr. Stewart had been at the hospital since March 30. On March 31 he underwent an operation, the nature of which the physicians have not made public. A week ago his condition became worse, and he sank steadily until this morning when at 7:05 o'clock he passed away.

Mr. Stewart was 82 years old and had been a figure in this city during the better part of the last half century. For twenty-eight years, altogether, he represented Nevada in the senate, a lapse between 1875 and 1876, when he returned to prevent a continuous service record from 1865 to 1905.

Washington Home Based. "Stewart Castle," his former home on Dupont circle, in this city, was long one of the landmarks of the national capital, but there is today in the center of the fashionable residence section a bare lot with only the cellar excavation telling the story of the pulling down of that historic structure.

Senator Stewart made many notable speeches on the floor of the senate in advocacy of silver and his characterization of the demonization of silver as "the crime of 72," a mark of political history. After his retirement from congress he divided his time between Washington, where he had many interests during his life of fluctuating fortune, his farm in nearby Virginia, and the west, where at his old home at Bullfrog, Nev., and elsewhere he had varied mining interests and experiences.

Most of the old residents of Washington and many of the new knew Stewart either personally or by sight, for his tall figure, topped with a wide-brimmed hat, and his long white beard and his complexion, as clear as youth's, were conspicuous on the streets of the city.

All Children Loved Him. Mr. Stewart was the living incarnation of Santa Claus and on this account, as well as on account of his kindly disposition, he appealed strongly to the imagination of children.

Probably no more picturesque nor rugged character was ever known to the senate. He was much in evidence around the senate chamber, until within the last few weeks.

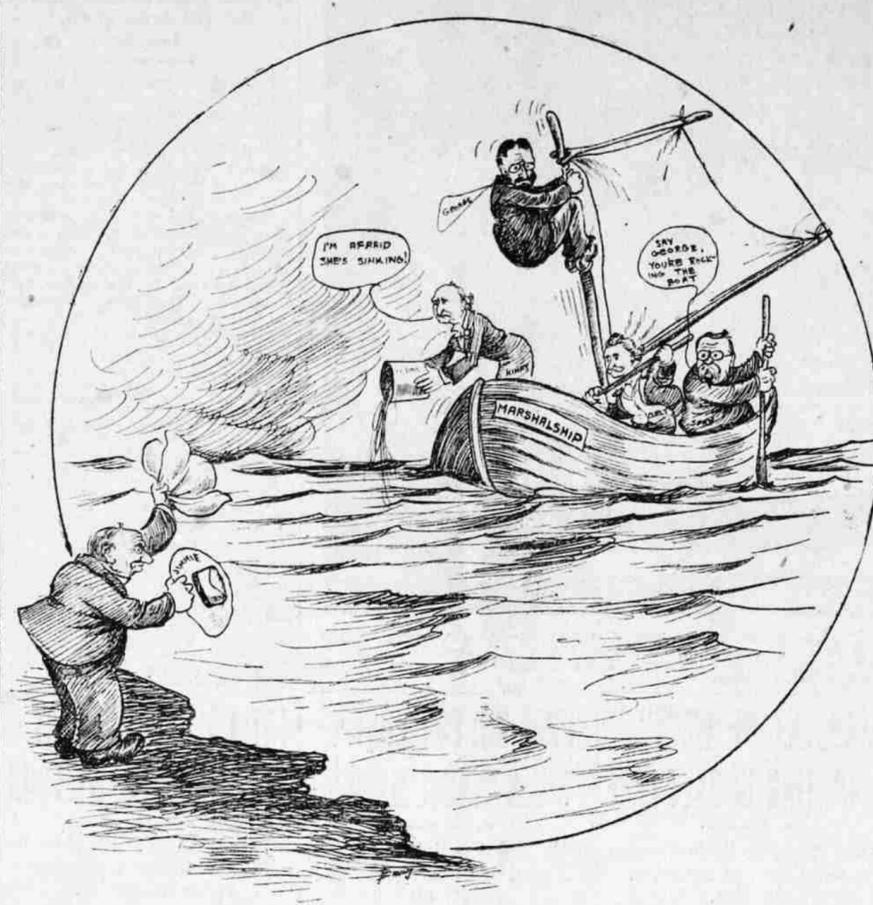

Mr. Stewart was a native of New York, but in the early days of the California gold discovery he worked the pick and shovel as an every-day miner.

Except for the first campaign of 1870, in 1876, when the silver issue was a prominent one, Mr. Stewart was a Republican. He was a man of independence, and often voted contrary to the wishes of the party caucus. He took a prominent part in the setting aside of the Force bill, in 1892, and he never failed to cast his vote in the legislature, in whatever direction, whatever the attitude of his party on that subject.

JOHN P. JONES PAYS TRIBUTE TO COLLEAGUE. SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 23.—John P. Jones, former United States senator, who was a close friend of Senator Stewart for many years, was apprised of his death by a representative of the Associated Press today. Jones said:

"Senator Stewart was a valuable friend of the west, and history probably will not readily give us a more earnest and consistent representation of Nevada and all western interests than he was. For almost fifty years I knew him. He was a man of sterling integrity, one who could be relied on to be on the side of the right, and to stand through the thickest machinations and the strongest pressure. There was no question among his associates and constituents as to where Senator Stewart would be found. His death narrows the number of surviving western senators of pioneer days to a very few. The pioneers were all long-lived, but years are fast making inroads in their ranks. I do not recall today any other surviving senator of the old days who can mourn with me the departure of my colleague."

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS OF UTAH COPPER COMPANY. COLORADO SPRINGS, April 23.—Word was received today that the old directors of the Utah Copper company were elected to succeed themselves at the annual meeting of the company held today in Jersey City, N. J.

JIMMIE—"HO, BRING 'ER ASHORE!"

Index to Today's Tribune

Departments.	Page
Society	1
Editorial	2
Markets	9
Intermountain	11
Railroads	11
Domestic
Newhouse explains reasons for disquieting action of stockholders	1
Former Senator William A. Stewart of Nevada dies	1
Senate disposed to crowd work on tariff bill	10
"Wheat King" Patten seeks complete solitude	2
Salt Lake end to strange case of accused shoe-face peddler	16
Former Governor Taylor of Kentucky	16
Wilson	2
Foreign
Invading army approaches palace of sultan	1
Lions' protest against tennis of Agadir, 10 April	16
High official of underwriters here	16
Local
Mad rush still on for divorces	1
Salt Lake end to strange case of accused shoe-face peddler	16
Bids opened for public work	16
Vander destroyed lawns and houses	16
More changes in theatrical management	16
Handsome buildings to be erected at fort	16
High official of underwriters here	16
Sporting News
University defeats Logan Aggies	12
University wins one-sided ball and track meet from Logan Aggies	12
"Big fight" conference meet for Marshall field	12
Salt Lake team beats All-Stars	12
High school defeats Granite	12
All halloos defeats Granite	12
Additional sporting news	12

NEWHOUSE TELLS OF PROBLEMS FACED

In Letter to Stockholders Explains Conditions That Have Caused Stock Declines.

MILL CLOSED DOWN TO READJUST EQUIPMENT

Mining Magnate Confident That Pending Difficulties Will Be Overcome.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 23.—Samuel Newhouse, in replying to the query of a number of stockholders in the Newhouse Mines and Smelters company for an explanation of the disquieting action of the stock in the market the recent past, writes as follows:

"Since our last annual report was published we have experienced higher copper costs, due to two reasons, the first, that as the slopes of high grade smelting ore was encountered than during the former years; and second, unexpected difficulties arose with the ore in the mill, due to changes in its character, causing the percentage of saving to drop from a normal of 70 per cent to as low as 50 per cent. We now think we are certain of solving the problem. There will be an additional capital expenditure, but not large, and we have determined that it was wiser to close the mill temporarily to such an extent as to enable us to meet the market conditions during the depressed copper metal market."

WHERE ROOSEVELT WILL HUNT IN DARK CONTINENT

Only a few months ago Winston Churchill, under-secretary of state for the colonies of Great Britain, completed an exploration of the interior of Africa that took him over precisely the same ground that ex-President Theodore Roosevelt will cover during the months that he is in the dark continent. Mr. Churchill has written, in his entertaining way, the more striking of the travel and big game hunting adventures that befell him during the course of his African journey. These he will publish tomorrow will give the reader a very good and vivid idea of what it is in store for Mr. Roosevelt as he follows Mr. Churchill on the various stages of his journey from Mombasa, through the heart of the jungle and big game country, to Khartoum on the Nile, where civilization will be reached once more. In Sunday's article Mr. Churchill describes in interesting detail the scenes and experiences that are in store for Mr. Roosevelt as he travels from the seacoast to the town of Nairobi, where he will establish his first headquarters for the hunting of big game. This series of articles will appear only in The Sunday Tribune. You will want to read them. Better order today. Call either phone.

CALHOUN WILL TURN GUNS ON GALLAGHER

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Patrick Calhoun's attorneys partially outlined their attitude today when the cross-examination of James L. Gallagher, chief witness for the prosecution, was completed, after two and one-half days of interrogation. The indicted street railway president, according to conclusions drawn from today's proceedings, has undertaken to attack the motives of Gallagher and his associates, members of the Schmitz board of supervisors, and will endeavor to show that Gallagher regarded above everything else the immunity contract whereby he was absolved from legal penalty for the crimes to which he had confessed.

PETER F. COLLIER IS SUDDENLY SUMMONED

NEW YORK, April 23.—Peter F. Collier, founder and publisher of Collier's Weekly, died suddenly tonight of apoplexy at the Rivington club.

Accidentally Kills Girl.

MILWAUKEE, April 23.—Col. Gustav Faber, while driving in an automobile today, accidentally ran down and killed Lillie Winkler, a fourteen-year-old girl. The accident occurred near the armory, where Faber was on duty. He was driving from a street car and walked in front of the rapidly moving automobile.

SALT LAKE IS SITE FOR A GREAT SHOW

Martin Beck Will Bring Bird Ballet Here From New York Hippodrome.

GREATEST PRODUCTION THAT HAS BEEN GIVEN IN WEST

Will Be Attraction at Salthair This Summer and Lure Thousands of Visitors.

Salt Lake City will be ahead of any city in the United States in so far as amusements are concerned, as it now leads all cities in the country in the way of improvements.

The greatest show in the country, in which 350 persons participate, which will require two trains to transport the show people alone, will be presented in Salt Lake this summer.

It is the Bird Ballet, which has been the feature of the New York Hippodrome. The opening will take place on June 15, the place will be Salthair Beach, in the great building erected there for a bicycle track, and there this big attraction will remain until the close of the season.

Contracts Have Been Signed. The contracts which have been signed amount to $75,000. They were completed, signed, sealed and delivered on Wednesday. The production will be under the direction of Martin Beck, head of the Orpheum vaudeville circuit, which is a guarantee of the kind and character of the production. It will be exactly the same as has been produced in the New York Hippodrome. In the ballet alone will be 300 girls, and the orchestra will number thirty-six pieces.

Work of changing the interior of the great bicycle track building will begin within a few days. The stage will be constructed in the west end of the big building and the seating arrangement will be changed so that 7000 people can be accommodated within the auditorium.

The changes in the building will be under the personal supervision of Charles Feleky, manager of the producing department of the Orpheum circuit, who will arrive here within a few days with several assistants, all of whom will come direct from the Orpheum circuit headquarters in New York.

Production on Gorgeous Scale. The Bird Ballet is one of the most gorgeous productions ever presented in New York, and it will be the greatest and most gorgeous one ever produced in the country outside of the metropolis. The costumes were made in France, and the duty upon them alone was $20,000. All these will be brought here; in fact it will be an exact reproduction of the one at the New York Hippodrome.

Will Attract Thousands. In addition to this, Mr. Beck wanted the play produced in a city that had a large territory to draw from, and this was another reason why he decided to bring it here, Salt Lake City being the center of a great empire. Mr. Beck thinks that the production of the play here this summer will bring at least 250,000 persons into Salt Lake to witness it, the intention being to run excursions from Idaho points as far west as Weiser, from Butte on the north, from Laramie on the east, Grand Junction on the southeast, Las Vegas on the southwest, and Reno on the west.

It will mean a great deal to the business community of Salt Lake, as the influx of people which this big production of Mr. Beck will bring here added to the tourist travel will make the business world hum.

In addition to this great New York Hippodrome production, Mr. Beck will bring from his California houses the Flying Ballet. This will come the third week after the opening, and other new attractions will follow during the season.

BONANZA DAY VETERAN DIES ALONE AND POOR

RENO, Nev., April 23.—George Eccles, 64 years old and an early comer to this state, one-time district attorney of Virginia City in the bonanza days of the late and early '70s, died today of a heart attack in a small hotel in Reno. He had been in Reno for several days, and it is supposed he had been dead several days.

Freight Train Wrecked.

REDDING, Cal., April 23.—A Southern Pacific freight train was wrecked early this morning between Delta and Smithson. Fourteen tramps who were stealing rides are missing. The train will be cleared by 6 o'clock tonight. The northbound Oregon express is being held at Red Bluff, the southbound at Dunsmuir, and the Harris & Rowe circus train at Smithson. Today's local trains have been cancelled.

INVADING FORCES APPROACH SULTAN

Investing Army Begins Its Advance Upon the Capital of Turkey.

FATE OF THE RULER NOT YET DETERMINED

People of City Thrown Into Panic by Report That Fighting Is Inevitable.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 24.—Heavy rifle firing has been in progress since 5 o'clock this morning, with the occasional rattle of the artillery surrounding the Yildiz Kiosk. Indications are that an engagement is in progress between the advancing Saloniki troops and the Yildiz garrison.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 23.—The advance of the concentrated army of investment began today. While the favored troops of the Constantinople garrison were giving homage to the sultan on Yildiz hill, there was a forward movement of the Constitutional forces to within two and a half miles of the Yildiz kiosk.

Cavalry went out to reconnoiter and soldiers were sent to picket the bridge across the Sweet Waters.

A party of fifty American tourists just arrived, were turned back by the horsemen. Infantry was then observed advancing and rumors spread throughout the city that the army was about to enter the capital and fighting was inevitable.

Great Panic Caused. There was a great panic. Shopkeepers in a large part of Pera put up their shutters. British Ambassador Lowther was caught in the swirling crowd near the embassy and hundreds of frantic persons poured into the embassy compound, imploring asylum. The gates of the embassy were closed with difficulty, but it was late in the afternoon before the refugees were assured and sent homeward.

The outposts of the invaders remained within about two miles of the palace tonight. On that side the city is entirely open, the fortifications having been planned to resist an approach by water. It is impossible to say just what are the intentions of the leader of the Constitutionalists, who are divided into two factions, the radical and the conservatives. Evidently the Constitutionalists are divided regarding the sultan. The parliamentary deputies, who met at San Stefano today, seem to favor his deposition, but the splendid reception accorded the sultan today and his appearance in public was a graphic demonstration of the fact that he retains a strong hold on the hearts of the people. He was acclaimed by thousands on his way from the gate of the palace to the white mosque outside the walls of Yildiz kiosk.

No Mercy Promised. No guarantees of any kind have been given to the sultan by the Constitutionalists, either with regard to his retention of the throne or the security of his person. The Constitutionalists have practical control of the government and are taking a positive attitude toward the sultan. Tewfik Pasha, grand vizier, and his associates have agreed to carry out the wishes of parliament.

Gen. Mahmud Schefket, who in a telegram to the grand vizier today styled himself commander-in-chief of the army of investment, and of the Ottoman fleet, is now almost in supreme authority. In his communication published tonight as a proclamation Gen. Schefket said:

"Owing to recent corruption among the imperial guard, the power of government in the capital was completely annihilated. In order to restore and consolidate the authority of the government, the second and third army corps dispatched troops to Constantinople and placed me at the head of these forces and also of the navy. Pardons will be granted to repentant soldiers who submit, but those continuing to rebel will be punished without mercy."

Dethronement Not Wanted.

Certain guilty individuals, apprehending chaotic conditions, are reported to have petitioned the sultan for the army of investment, and I absolutely deny this allegation. If during the operations agitators attempt to provoke troubles they will be held responsible."

The general has sent a large body of troops by steamer to Smyrna, thence to Eski-Shehr and other points across the railway leading from Constantinople to capture refugees for the Constantinople troops. Yesterday the treasury department was without sufficient funds and it was considered dangerous for the cabinet to leave the soldiers unpaid, because of the possibility of riots and looting. As a final resort, the minister of war hastily summoned the officials of the tobacco monopoly and some of the leading bankers, who have arranged to provide funds.

Latest reports from Adana show appalling distress. About 15,000 persons are homeless and starving and thousands of orphans are to be provided for. In a comparatively small community, nineteen Protestant pastors have been killed. The loss of wheat and the damage of flour mills cause high prices.

Relief will be distributed irrespective of race and creed by a commission of Moslems and Christians presided over by the missionary Mr. Chambers, who has had much experience with relief work at former Armenian massacres, and under the supervision of the British consuls.

The local government is trying to provide shelter and food for the refugees, but foreign help is urgently needed.